The Changing Health Care Landscape

Goals of health reform

- To increase access to basic health care services
- To provide high quality, cost-effective care
- To improve population health

What Changes With Health Reform?

- Shift in focus away from acute care to primary and preventive care
- Service integration: primary care, behavioral health and oral health
- Better coordination of care
- Payment reform, moving away from fee-for-service and toward value based payment
 - incentives for keeping people healthy and penalties for poor outcomes, e.g., inappropriate hospital readmissions

Workforce Implications of Health Reform

- New models of care are increasing in number (Patient Centered Medical Homes, Accountable Care Organizations, Preferred Provider Systems)
- Team-based approaches to care are frequently used in these models
- Team composition and roles vary, depending on the patient population
- Teams may include: physicians, NPs, PAs, RNs, social workers, LPNs, medical assistants, and community health workers, among others

Multidisciplinary Teams Shown to Have Positive Impacts on Patient Outcomes

- “The provision of comprehensive health services to patients by multiple health care professionals with a collective identity and shared responsibility who work collaboratively to deliver patient-centered care.”

- Research suggests health care teams with greater cohesiveness and collaboration are associated with:
 - Higher levels of patient satisfaction
 - Better clinical outcomes
- The most effective and efficient teams demonstrate a substantial amount of shared responsibility (scope overlap)

What Are the Workforce Issues We Face?

- Workforce maldistributions, particularly in underserved areas and high need populations
- Health workforce is not always prepared for team-based care
- Health workforce is not often trained in emerging functions
- Scope of practice restrictions
- Workforce innovations are challenging to achieve

Examples of Workforce Innovations

- New categories of workers
 - Care coordinators
 - Dental therapists/advanced practice dental hygienists
- Expanding roles for existing workers
 - Community paramedics
 - Pharmacists

Barriers to and Facilitators of Health Workforce Innovation

- Financial
- Organizational
- Cultural
- Educational
- Regulatory

In the U.S., States Are Primarily Responsible for Regulating Health Professions

State Regulations

What is Scope of Practice?

- Professional scope of practice, i.e. professional competence, describes the services that a health professional is trained and competent to perform
- Legal scope of practice, based on state-specific practice acts, defines what services a health professional can and cannot provide under what conditions in a given state
- Legal scope of practice and professional competence overlap, but amount of overlap varies by state and by profession

Issues With State Based Health Professions Regulation

- Mismatches between professional competence and state-specific legal scopes of practice
- Lack of uniformity in legal scopes of practice across states for some health professions
- The process for changing state-specific scope of practice is slow and adversarial

States Are Adopting Their Own Strategies to Expand Access to Health Services

- + Designed to address local needs and can account for factors unique to that state
- Continues to contribute to state-to-state variation in SOP, training, qualifications for similar titles
- As states learn from each other, there will be more consistency in state regulations for emerging professions over time

State Strategies to Support Workforce Innovation

- Standardize scopes of practice for health professions across states based on professional competence
- Routinely update practice acts
- Increase consumer input into SOP decision-making
- Use best available evidence to inform SOP decisions
- Allow time limited workforce demonstrations

- Disseminate, disseminate,
